Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Group Mission: The Tactics & Technology Group (TTG) within NCTC's DI focuses on a broad array of functional and crosscutting CT issues, including terrorist use of the Internet, terrorist travel methods, threats to critical infrastructure, and terrorist use of conventional weapons and explosives. The successful candidate will lead a team with a skilled mix of employees on rotation from across the IC as well as Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) staff employees. Branch Role: The ISIL Cyber Branch focuses on ISIL's media enterprise and online activities. Major Duties and Responsibilities

- Provide expert guidance and leadership in the production of well-crafted, sophisticated, analytic finished intelligence products on sometimes controversial or particularly difficult issues in support of United States (US) foreign policy and national security objectives; review final analytic products, written and oral, for clarity, organization, accuracy, and logic; effectively explain highly complex concepts to non-expert customers and tailor products to correspond to customer needs.
- Lead and direct team in substantive analysis; plan, coordinate, and oversee work in a manner consistent with fulfilling organizational directives and accomplishing mission goals.
- Lead and direct team in the gathering of open-source and intelligence information in support of US interests and policy objectives; guide teams in the development and identification of highly relevant assessments drawing on internal and external sources to meet client needs.
- Develop and maintain working relationships with internal and external counterparts, communicating regularly to exchange subject information.
- Develop the substantive analytic and leadership skills of subordinate employees, and contribute to the broader corporate mission of the organization.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE

L E A D I N G I N T E L L I G E N C E I N T E G R A T I O N

- Serve as the primary approver for the allocation of resources including but not limited to training, travel, and contracts; advise senior leadership on resource needs for the entire unit.
- Evaluate and develop analysts; serve as a substantive supervisory and analytic resource; provide substantive feedback to include career development counseling and skills development.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Demonstrated analytic and critical thinking skills, including superior ability to think strategically and drive production.
- Demonstrated subject matter expertise in CT issues.
- Demonstrated ability to work effectively in a team or collaborative environment, and to develop and mentor junior colleagues.
- Strong task management skills and a proven ability to work well in a fast-paced, high-pressure environment.

Desired Requirements

- NCTC is seeking an experienced officer with a background in all-source analysis and an interest in leading a high-performing team focused on terrorist use of the Internet.
- Successful candidates will have leadership experience and a demonstrated knowledge of analytic tradecraft.
- Experience working on cyber and social media issues, particularly in a CT context, is preferred.
